

The Developmental Building Block Activities

for working with clients who have special needs

Developed by Cecilia Koester as part of her Brain Gym® for Special Needs Providers course

This workshop taught by Kathy Brown, M.Ed.

Saturday, May 9, 2020 • 9am to 5pm

Center Edge office: 4915 E. Plnchot Ave., Phoenix AZ • Near Thomas Rd. and 48th St.

Class limited to 10 participants - Register now to reserve your place

Who would benefit from this workshop:

- OTs and PTs who work with all ages and levels of functioning
- Anyone who works with clients who have special needs
- Practitioners who work with clients recovering from PTSD, emotional or physical trauma, TBI, or clients who may be overwhelmed by the sensory load from life
- Anyone looking for an adjunct to enhance the techniques that they are currently practicing, by addressing the neurological system at its core
- Brain Gym® instructors who want to add to their professional toolkit

Participants will...

- Learn seven techniques that support integration of the nervous system, strengthen the developmental foundation, and lead to higher functioning in daily life skills
- Understand how these BBAs cultivate reliable, integrated internal patterns that help clients more easily receive and process sensory information
- Experience three learning dimensions (Laterality, Centering, and Focus) and how these BBAs relate to each one, as a basis for knowing which to use with a specific client, and why
- Learn how the seven BBAs presented can positively affect seizure activity. It has been demonstrated that these BBAs can decrease the intensity, duration, and frequency of seizures.

Registration:

$150 paid two weeks ahead • $165 thereafter • Buddy rate $125/$145

"Learning and memory are based on our ability to make patterns from sensory information"
